CREDITS: 3 cr.
TERM: Fall 2016		PROFESSOR: Andrew T. Onuferko
DESCRIPTION	The online course aims at a general introduction to the four families of Eastern Churches: Eastern Orthodox, Oriental Orthodox, Eastern Catholic and the Assyrian Church of the East. After reviewing the history of the Eastern churches and the critical moments that shaped their development (including schisms, attempts at re-union and the impact of Islam), the course will give particular attention to the history and culture of the Assyrian Church of the East, the Coptic and Armenian Orthodox Churches, the Orthodox Churches of Greece and Russia, the Maronite and Ukrainian Catholic Churches. Subsequently, the course will examine the East's distinctive approaches to liturgy, art, architecture, music, spiritual life, monasticism, social service, hagiography, mission and theology. The course ends with an assessment of the current state of these Churches in North America and their approaches to inter-Christian and inter-religious relations. Field trips to Eastern Christian communities are part of the course requirement.
